

PRE-REQUISITE AND CO-REQUISITE OVERRIDES

POLICY

Pre-requisite and co-requisite overrides are not always a suitable substitute for the regular sequencing of the college's normal curriculum. In general, students are expected to complete the doctor of chiropractic degree curriculum as it is scheduled by quarter in the college catalog. Overrides may be considered when a student meets the eligibility requirements and:

1. There is a conflict in the class schedule and the student needs an override to graduate timely.
2. There is a conflict in the class schedule and the student is attempting to take a board class to be eligible for boards.
3. The student has transferred from another institution and has previously taken the equivalent of the pre-requisite elsewhere.

A pre-requisite or co-requisite override can only be applied to 2 classes per quarter and the student must:

1. Have not failed the pre-requisite class in a previous quarter.
2. Have a minimum cumulative GPA of a 2.75.

Courses that require practical examinations are not eligible for an override.

Students requesting an override must obtain a Request for Pre-requisite or Co-requisite Override form from the college website, complete the appropriate section, submit the form to the appropriate instructor and finally submit the form to the appropriate dean for review.
